

Odsjek za filozofiju
Filozofskog fakulteta u Rijeci

i

Hrvatsko društvo za
analitičku filozofiju

Invite you to the Conference

Psychopathy: scientific advancements and philosophical interpretations

Monday 20.06.2016.

Filozofski fakultet, Sveučilišna avenija 4, Rijeka
Room 401 (4th floor)

10.00–11.00	Luna Centifanti (University of Durham) Children with psychopathic traits: reviewing the evidence for child callousness as a factor in anti-social behaviour
11.00–12.00	Jeanne Snelling (University of Otago) The "high risk" offender: human rights and post-sentence preventive detention in New Zealand
12.00–12.15	Coffee break
12.15–13.15	Dalida Rittossa (University of Rijeka) Protection of rights of psychopathic offenders in the Case Law of the ECHR: a step forward?
13.15–15.00	Lunch break
15.00–16.00	Janko Međedović (University of Belgrade) Evolutionary genetics of psychopathy: the first pieces of the puzzle
16.00–17.00	Luca Malatesti, Zdenka Brzović, Marko Jurjako (University of Rijeka) Is psychopathy a mental illness? Between evolution and norms
17.00–17.15	Coffee break
17.15–18.15	Martino Rossi Monti (Institute for philosophy, Zagreb) Ordinary men, extraordinary evil

The event is supported by the Croatian Science Foundation

Conference organised by Zdenka Brzović, Marko Jurjako and Luca Malatesti